KNIGHTS TEMPLAR
Hold Services Over Grave of Late Warner Campbell.

Two special cars of Knights Templar from Earlington came up Sunday and united with Moore Commandery in a memorial service over the grave of the late Warner Campbell in Hopewell Cemetery. Knight Campbell, who was killed last year by his engine jumping the track of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad in Colorado, was a member of "Baby" Commandery at Earlington. This commandery is probably the youngest in the State at this time; and when it was instituted it was given the name because it was the infant of the State at the time.

There was a large attendance at the services, at which the regular service of the order was used. This service is very solemn and impressive, but was cut short by the heavy rain which fell in the afternoon during the exercises.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

Hit By Passenger and Death
Was Instantaneous.

L. & N. passenger train No. 51, due here at 5:18 p. m., ran over and killed Joseph F. Legate in the yards at Nortonville Saturday afternoon. A freight train was on the siding, and Legate was walking down the main track. The supposition is that he was watching the freight and failed to observe the approach of the passenger. He was about 65 years old and a resident of Nortonville. He was formerly a merchant at that place and was engaged in business at the time of his death. He leaves a family.

MY COMPANION IN DARKNESS

By OWEN OLIVER

reached the garden, and there was only the rose-bush between them—then for the first time he saw her, and had he been a wise young man he would have become suddenly blind, discovered something of great interest in another direction and quickly walked away.

As it was he was not wise and had little experience in the ways of women, and besides was very glad indeed to see his little playmate again, so he started forward with both hands outstretched to greet her.

"Cecilia," he cried, expecting she would run to him as in days gone by, but she drew back and gave him her hand very formally with stiff words of welcome which sounded unreal on her lips.

After they had both made a few commonplace remarks, a long and uncomfortable silence followed. The key to the situation appeared to be missing, and Phillip at any rate was at a loss to understand what was the matter. This was indeed Cecilia, looking too much the same as on the day he left, only a great deal taller, and yet there was a difference, and a very great one. He couldn't disguise from himself that he was bitterly dis-

I thought I was smitten with blindness and flung up my arms and gave a great cry. I heard the beginning of it. Then all sound stopped. The rumble of vehicles, the scurry of feet, the cries of the street venders, the shouts of the newspaper boys—all the hum of life—ceased in an instant.

I thought at first that I had died; but I could feel my limbs; feel my lips moving as I cried for help; feel the vibration of the traffic that I could not hear.

"I am blind!" I shouted. "Blind! And deaf! Hold me, some one—some one!"

I heard no call, and no answer. I groped wildly in the darkness, and met other hands that were groping too. I seized some one by the shoulder, and others seized me. Their hands twitched convulsively. They were crying out as I was. I knew by touching their open mouths and faces contorted with fright.

It is possible that I fainted, but was held up on my feet by the pressure of the crowd, for I seemed to lose myself for a time and to come back to myself in a swaying, clutching mass of unseen, unheard people. I felt sick and almost suffocated, and tried vainly to push my way out, till the crowd was scattered by a plunging horse which brushed against me as it passed. I took a few hurried steps and found myself somewhere—alone! I was more afraid of the loneliness than I had been of the crowd.

Presently when I had gone some way two hands clutched my legs. They were such small hands that I did not fear them greatly. I stooped down, and felt a small child lying on the lap of a woman. The woman's hair was loose and hanging over her face. I thought she was young. She shivered at my touch, but I sat down beside her.

She laid my hand on the child as if she appealed to me for help. I felt its mouth moving, as if it cried for something. I invented an alphabet and spelt out a message with taps upon her shoulder; one tap for A, two for B and so on, but she put my hand to her head to feel that she shook it. I could tell by the way she held my hand that she did not mean to refuse my friendship, but to show that she could not understand my signs.

I plucked at her sleeve to rise and come with me, and she came. She was scarcely able to stand, so I took the child from her and carried it.

She felt the texture of my clothing carefully and my scarf and watch chain and even my hankerchief. She evidently wanted to know what manner of man I was. Apparently she was satisfied, for she held gently to my sleeve when she had finished her inspection.

After a few minutes I took her hand and tried my alphabet again; and this time she understood and answered. This was the conversation, spelt out slowly, letter for letter:

I. F-r-i-e-n-d.
She. F-r-i-e-n-d.
I. J-o-h-n C-a-r-t-e-r. F-r-i-e-n-d.
She. Y-e-s. F-r-i-e-n-d. A-l-i-c-e
T-h-o-r-n. W-h-a-t i-s i-t?
I. D-o-n-t k-n-o-w.
She. S-h-a-t w-e d-i-e?
I. D-o-n-t l-n-o-w.
She. W-h-a-t s-h-a-t l-w-e d-o?
I. F-i-n-d y-o-u-r h-o-m-e?

We were very hungry, and at last we met some policemen who understood our new language. One of them took us to an eating-house. I offered him money, but he refused.

"N-o-u-s-e," he tapped. "E-n-d o-f w-o-r-l-d."

We had a good meal and lay down to sleep in an inner room.

In the morning—if it were morning—when we awoke we found a basket filled it with food and bottles of water, and started again.

"I a-m h-a-p-p-y n-o-w," Alice spelled out. I began to spell out an answer, but the letters would not come quickly enough for her and suddenly she caught at me and wrote with her finger on my cheek. I could read the writing easily, and it was much quicker than the taps. We were so pleased with our quicker conversation that we stood still writing on one another's faces as fast as our fingers would move. (We always used this way after ward.) We discussed at length the calamity which had come upon the world, and "perhaps," I concluded, "it is a sort of fog over New York. Shall we try to reach the country?"

"I will do whatever you tell me," she wrote back.

"Tell me just what you are like," I wrote. "What is the color of your hair? How old are you?"

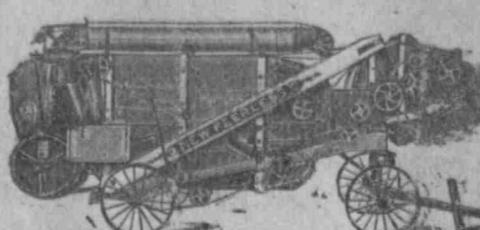

"I shall not tell you," she wrote, "because if you like me now, perhaps you would not then. If the sun never rises again I can look just as you like me to look, and be just as old as you wish. Now shall we go on?"

We walked on for a long time, and at last we came to some railings. As we felt our way by them we met a woman coming along in the other direction. We felt one another with our hands and accepted acquaintance. She

The State College of Kentucky,

LEXINGTON, KY.

The Agricultural and Mechanical (State College) of Kentucky offers the following courses of study, viz: Agricultural, Horticultural, Chemical, Biological, Mathematical, Physical, Normal School, Classical, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Civil Engineering, and Mining Engineering, each of which extends over four years and leads to a degree. Post graduate studies are also provided, leading to a master's degree. Each course of study is organized under a separate faculty. The general faculty number nearly fifty professors and instructors.

County appointees receive free tuition, room rent in the dormitories, fuel and light, and if they remain ten months, traveling expenses.

The laboratories and museums are large, well equipped, comprehensive and modern.

Graduates from the several courses of study readily find excellent positions and liberal remuneration. The demand is largely in excess of the ability of the College to supply. The matriculation for the last year was, including Summer school, 815.

Specialists with the necessary number of assistants have charge of each department of natural science. Summer schools are provided for pedagogy, engineering, instruction in science and in arts.

The State College of Kentucky, though bearing hitherto the title of "college," is the only institution in the Commonwealth doing, in any proper sense, university work.

The completion of the College home for young women provides facilities for good board and lodging. It is equipped with all modern conveniences, including bath rooms and room for physical culture. It is heated by steam and lighted by electricity.

An opportunity is thus afforded to young women of obtaining a thorough education in classics, modern language, literature, science, mathematics, logic, metaphysics, history, and political economy.

No other institution in the State offers advantages for education of women at all comparable to those offered by the State College of Kentucky.

The Normal Department will be on a better footing than ever heretofore. Last year's largely increased attendance, with the unprecedented growth of the Summer Normal School, both indicate that an era of prosperity surpassing that of all previous years has opened for the Normal Department of the State College.

Insects as Voyagers.

Among the things that furnish occupation for the eyes and minds of transatlantic voyagers are the houseflies which accompany the great steamships from one side of the ocean to the other. In fine weather the flies buzz cheerfully about the sheltered places on the decks, and when the wind blows high they take refuge in the cabins and saloons. The flies often remain with the ship while in port, and return with her on her next trip, thus crossing the ocean several times in succession, and perhaps spending the entire season at sea.

For Kentucky—Showers Tuesday.

Four negro murderers were executed Friday, three in Virginia and one in Maryland.

Central City has become a city of the fourth class. W. D. McElhinny is the mayor.

Marion N. Montgomery, a miner, fell 180 feet into a coal shaft at Sebree and was instantly killed.

Hop H. Holman, of Madisonville, will move to Louisville Sept. 1st to become cashier of the Bank of Commerce.

A packing house employee at South Omaha, Neb., found a diamond set in fine gold in the stomach of a cow. The stone was valued at $100.

Arguments by attorneys in the Hargis-Callahan murder case were begun Saturday at Beattyville, after the jury had been instructed by Judge Dorsey. The case went to the jury yesterday afternoon.

Howard Blanford, who was supposed to have been killed in a wreck in Alabama several years ago, and who has a wife and two children in Owensboro, has been discovered alive and well at Sidney, Australia.

Vice Admiral Choukmin, commander of the Black Sea fleet, was shot and fatally wounded while walking in a garden by someone supposed to be in sympathy with the revolutionaries.

Hon. L. K. Taylor, of Paducah, has solved the trouble of a white swelling that has made one leg useless all his life, by having the diseased member amputated. He is in a Louisville infirmary rapidly recovering from the operation.

The Government of France, after many years of persecution of Capt. Alfred Dreyfus for the crimes of another man, last week restored him to his old place in the army amid scenes of tumultuous disorder in the Chamber of Deputies. The debate was so acrimonious that a fight occurred that later led to a duel between two members, in which one received a sword thrust in the lung.

At Laredo, Texas, while standing at the door bidding her lover goodbye, Miss Soledad Valdez saw a ray of moonlight that she thought was a twig on the banisters of the piazza. She picked it up to throw it off and found it a live electric wire. She was instantly killed. J. E. Wrangle, her companion, attempted to rescue her and may also die from the shock. A neighbor, who happened to be passing, attempted to free the bodies from the wire and was rendered unconscious.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Eruptions

The only way to get rid of pimples and other eruptions is to cleanse the blood, improve the digestion, stimulate the kidneys, liver and skin. The medicine to take is Hood's Sarsaparilla Which has cured thousands.

Hon. William Preston Kimball, of Lexington, like Ben Johnson, of Nelson, has realized his ambition to go to Congress, by the unanimous vote of his district convention. Kimball had two opponents, but they developed so little strength that both withdrew. The nominee in the famous Ashland district is a member of the noted Preston family and one of the most gifted of Bluegrass orators. He has long been recognized as congressional timber.

Capt. Robert Tyler, Deputy Internal Revenue Collector, and one of the best known and most popular men in Kentucky, died last week at the residence of his son-in-law, S. M. Brooks, in Shepherdsville. Capt. Tyler was sixty-three years of age. He had been confined to his bed for six months with cancer of the stomach. He was a lifetime Democrat until 1899, when he became a Republican.

Henry Clay Evans, of Hamilton county, former Commissioner of Pensions, and recently American consul general in London, was nominated last week by the Republican convention for Governor of Tennessee. The Democratic nominee is Hon. John M. Pattison, of Memphis. Evans' nomination was a dethronement of the Brownlow machine that has for years dominated the Republican party of that state.

Nathaniel Jackson, a negro, aged twenty-three years, who was shot by another negro, lived eight weeks with a bullet in his heart. He died at the city hospital in Henderson last week and a physician who held a postmortem examination, took a 32-caliber bullet from the apex of the heart, just under the skin, the bullet having gone almost through that organ. He died finally of blood poisoning.

The Courier-Journal says the election of Mott Ayers as Secretary of the Campaign Committee was a victory over Percy Haly, who has heretofore filled the place. As the election was by acclamation and Haly was at Frankfort presiding over a congressional convention the same day, the excitement of the contest was not apparent to the casual observer.

The East Tennessee Telephone Company has pulled out of Harricksburg because it will not accept the rates fixed by the city council. The city is left temporarily without telephone service.

An automobile, in which Vice-President Fairbanks was riding, crashed into a buggy driven by Jos. M. Dougherty, near Danville, Ill. Mr. Fairbanks was not injured, but Mr. Dougherty was painfully bruised.

The Sherman anti-trust law will get squarely before the United States Supreme Court for the first time since it became a law, under the pleadings perfected Saturday in the case of the alleged Fertilizer Trust, under indictment in the Federal Court in Nashville.

It is said that Hopkinsville lost the State encampment by reason of the opposition of the local officers of the Third Regiment. The members of the Commercial Club and City Council who were working to get the encampment are very much disappointed over the turn the affair took.

A FIGHT ON FOR CERTAIN.

Haly, the Warwick of the State Administration, Issues a Card.

ATTACKS S. W. HAGER.

Declares He's Unfit As a Candidate For Governor.

Louisville, Ky., July 14.—The State house occupants have split up among themselves.

Rumors of this have been brewing for weeks, but the break has undoubtedly come at last. Percy Haly, the Warwick of the Beckham administration, in a long card in the Louisville Post this afternoon, bitterly attacks Auditor S. W. Hager, pronouncing him unfit as a candidate for Governor, and declares for Judge Pryor, Louis McQaown, Ollie James, Joe Robbins or Charlie Wheeler for Governor, or some man who is capable of presenting his claims and carrying his party's standard on the stump.

He also attacks Graham Vreeland, managing editor of the Courier-Journal and brother of Hubert Vreeland, candidate for Secretary of State.

He charges Graham Vreeland with falsely representing him (Haly) in the Courier-Journal as an aspirant for the place of Secretary to the Sub-committee of the State Committee that will conduct the State primary, and making it appear that he was defeated by Mott Ayres. He says he was not a candidate for the place and wouldn't have it.

He says Graham Vreeland is the real candidate for Secretary of State, and charges him with using the columns of the Courier-Journal to promote the Vreeland political interests.

He also implicates Henry Hines, appointee of Gov. Beckham to the office of State Inspector, and now a candidate for Auditor, as an accomplice of the Vreelands and Hager in the capture of the Sub-committee organization, but goes no further as to Hines. He leaves his case for future decision.

He bids defiance to the Courier-Journal influence. There is much excitement among the politicians and it looks like a fight between the Frankfort machine and the Louisville machine.

Hager will have the support of Haldeman, the Vreelands and the city administration of Louisville, and it is thought that Hager, Henry Prewitt, Insurance Commissioner, and Judge Allie Young, who are his close allies, may undertake to form an alliance with Senator McCreary.

Hager and Hines' friends undoubtedly control the Sub-committee, but it is claimed that Beckham and Haly still hold a majority of the State Central Committee.

This, on the other hand, is denied, and the claim is set up that W. B. Haldeman will be elected by Hager's and Hines' friends to the place on the State Central Committee now held by Judge Lassing, as soon as Lassing announces himself as a candidate for Appellate Judge, whether Lassing formally resigns or not, and that Jerry Sullivan, of Richmond, who is McCreary's closest friend, will be elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dick Miller.

It is said at Frankfort to-night that Railroad Commissioner Hon. C. C. McCord will announce himself a candidate for Governor in a few days. It is also said that great pressure is being brought to bear on the venerable Judge Pryor, ex-Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals, to get him to enter the race for the nomination for Governor.

It is not denied that Haly, Lassing and Eli Brown, Jr., went on to New York to urge Ollie James to run for Governor, just before he sailed for Europe. The discovery of this is what aroused Hager and his friends to fight Haly.

There are persistent rumors that Senator Blackburn will be a candidate for Governor in a few days.

The Delineator For August.

A wealth of suggestions for the newest summer gowns is to be found in the August Delineator, which is interesting, not only from the standpoint of fashion, but for its reading as well. Among the fiction of the number is the second installment of "The Chauffeur and the Chaperon," the delightful motor-boat romance by The Williamsons, authors of many automobile stories; also two entertaining short stories by Carroll Watson Rankin and Marvin Dana. Carolyn Wells contributes the "Rubaiyat of Summer Khayyam," written in her inimitable style. Clara E. Laughlin tells the story of the life of Rembrandt, whose pictures are held invaluable in the world's best collections of art, and Gustav Kobbé writes of the famous civil war song of the South, "Dixie," and its composer, Dan Emmett, the old minstrel. In the campaign for safe foods, Mrs. Abel contributes a chapter on "The Market Inspector and the Buyer," which concludes this series of notable articles. There are numerous articles devoted to the interest of the home:—The Kitchen, House Furnishing, Needlework and Dressmaking; and the children's pages include a variety of features having for their purpose the entertainment of young folks.

Lived With Bullet in Heart.

Accepted dicta of the medical men received a severe shock at Henderson Wednesday in the announcement by Dr. J. W. Edwards that Nathaniel Jackson, colored, had lived eight weeks with a bullet that had plowed its way diagonally through the heart, its point of entrance being in the upper left hand side of that organ and being found to the right of the apex, about a quarter or a half inch from the lower exterior.

The conditions under which Jackson held on to his lease of life for the eight weeks lacking only two days after he received the wound that finally caused his death are unprecedented. Cases are known among the medical men where persons receiving wounds in the heart have recovered, but those even are rare, but no case is known, so far as can be ascertained, where any one held on life for a time exceeding seven weeks with a hole almost entirely through that organ of life, the heart.—Henderson Gleaner.

And when we sell an article we have in mind that we have a record to maintain, and no slipshod methods, no careless workmanship, no lack of quality, is ever allowed to mar the record of the past. Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

How To Find Out.

A small bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it; or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

FINE ACCOMMODATIONS.

People Visiting Jamestown Exposition Well Cared for.

The great expositions of the world have usually been held in or near metropolitan cities. The knowledge of this fact has caused some to question whether Norfolk will be able to furnish adequate Hotel accommodations for the immense throngs which next year will visit the Jamestown Exposition. No anxiety need be felt, however, on this score.

The Jamestown Exposition is peculiarly fortunate in its situation. Although it is but a scant six miles from Norfolk, it is hardly a greater distance from Portsmouth, Newport News or Hampton. It is within a few minutes ride of some of the most famous seaside hotel resorts in America: Ocean View, Virginia Beach, Pine Beach and Fortress Monroe, or Old Point, long famous as an all year health and pleasure point. The cities enumerated above are well equipped with modern hotels, and cottages for the accommodation of summer visitors line the shores of Chesapeake Bay, the roadway to the sea, and the Virginia coast.

Several large hotels are now building in the cities near the exposition, and a number of temporary hotels are going up in the vicinity of the grounds. Further to assure comfortable and attractive accommodation for the guests, there is being constructed within the exposition grounds an Inside Inn, which is unique among exposition hotels. This Inn will be a real hotel—not a hastily constructed barn with shallow partitions, built for a day. It will be a permanent affair, lasting after the exposition is over, and will add one more to the well known records of the section.

It will have a frontage of 650 feet and a depth of 450 feet, and will be three stories high. It will contain nearly one thousand rooms, accommodating two thousand guests. It is located near the main entrance of the exposition and faces Hampton Roads, separated from this sheet of water only by a shady boulevard. To the left of the hotel is a splendid grove of stately pines; to the right, separate some hundred yards, is the amusement section of the exposition, named by Gen. Lee "The Warpath."

At the rear of the Inside Inn is the Forestry and outdoor Horticultural exhibit. It will be seen from these items of surroundings that the situation of the inn could not be improved.

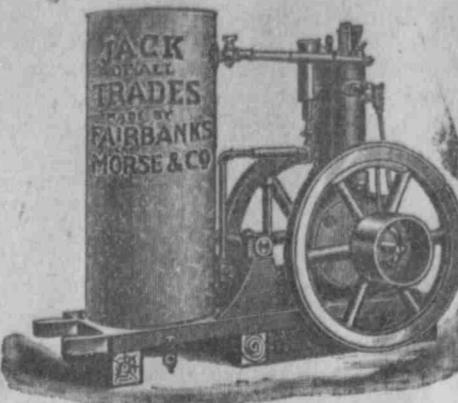

At other expositions the chief, if not the sole, advantage of the inside inn was that its guests were saved the slight annoyance of going to and coming from the exposition in crowded street cars or in conveyances speeding over dusty roads, for, as a rule, exposition visitors, especially those whose stay was brief, did not leave the grounds, once they entered. The minor advantage of being able to change attire for social or other functions of course might be added, together with the economy resulting from a location on the grounds, whereby extra admission fees were saved, but there were compensating advantages, insufficient space for rooms, thin partitions that did not keep out sounds, inadequate attendance and unsatisfactory cuisine.

The Jamestown Inn will suffer from none of these disadvantages. While the management of the property is in the hands of a company, the exposition reserves the right to insist upon first-class service for all persons. The structure will be built on the most modern plans; its furnishings will be strictly first-class and its arrangements comfortable in every particular. The rooms will be single and in suites with and without baths.

The first story will contain a large lobby, public writing rooms, ladies' parlors, buffet, a dining room each for American and European guests, barber shop, postoffice, public stenographer's room, and in fact everything which usually accompanies the convention hall, occupying parts of the first and second floors. It will have a seating capacity of one thousand. There will also be a fine banquet hall, where a thousand or more guests may be served. The two upper floors, containing about 500 rooms each, will be used entirely for sleeping quarters.

Broad piazzas will encircle the building, enabling the guests to secure fine views of the pageantry on the Roads and ashore. Taken all in

SOLD FOR TAXES.

City Buys In 118 Town Lots Belonging to Delinquents.

City tax Collector Gus Tandy yesterday sold at public auction 114 town lots belonging to colored people and 4 belonging to whites for delinquent taxes due for the years 1903-4. The sale was conducted by City Clerk McMath and all of the lots were bid in by the Mayor for the city of Hopkinsville at the amounts due for taxes. The former owners have two years within which to redeem the lots by paying all back taxes and costs, after which time the city will take actual possession of the property.

THE ROBINSON SHOW

Pitched Their Big Tents in Mercer Park.

The John Robinson show arrived in the city Sunday morning from Paducah about eight o'clock. The evening before the agent was here and made a hasty change in the plan to show in the Hopper field and decided to use Mercer Park. Consequently when the show arrived it only had to move across the river from the I. C. depot. Permission was given to unload and by noon the big job had been completed, the living tents, five stables, etc., had been put up and after eating breakfast the show people were lined up at the pay wagon and given their salaries for the week or half month. There are 1,000 employees and the line was a hundred yards long as the men and women of all nationalities were taken into the car, one by one and paid off. The city was tightly closed except the drug stores and there were but few opportunities for them to spend the money until yesterday, when many of the merchants were called upon. The unloading crew all this time were busy getting the many wagons and the hundreds of animals into their places, but the big tent was not put up until yesterday. In the afternoon there was a hard rain, but it found the smaller tents up and no discomfort was experienced.

A large crowd was at the depot to see the show unload, and there were many about the grounds during the day. The show people were an orderly and well disciplined crowd and went about their duties singing and joking and apparently enjoying the day of rest.

There are three John Robinsons with the show. "The Governor," as the men call him, is the original old John Robinson, now about 60 years old. His son, aged 38, and grandson, aged 15, are the other two.

The lot where the show was spread contains only eleven acres, but it is right in town and everybody was glad of the change.

The mayor yesterday put into operation his new rule of allowing no eating stands to block the streets in the business section of the city, and the usual crowded condition of the streets was much improved. Seventh street leading to the show grounds was not allowed to be used for eating stands. Permits were refused even on vacant lots, within ten feet of the pavements.

It has been estimated that at least 2,000 people were on the grounds Sunday afternoon. Hundreds stood around and watched the show people eat dinner, which was served at 3:20.

The 900 or 1,000 attaches are well fed, and sat down to a dinner Sunday that would satisfy anybody in ordinary circumstances.

It requires 600 loaves of bread, 50 gallons of coffee and 35 gallons of sweet milk for each meal. Besides three kinds of meat and every fresh vegetable obtainable the tables, thirty in number, with twelve people to each table, ice water, tea, syrups and condiments of every kind were placed before the hungry army that Robinson carries with his big shows.

The large crowd of visitors were also allowed to see the elephants, camels and other animals watered. A tank larger than the one used for sprinkling the streets was driven up and the water turned into a large tub. Eight elephants drank the water as fast as it ran out of the tank in a stream three inches in diameter. Taken altogether, "the grand free exhibition on the outside" Sunday was a great treat for all.

"Doc" Waddell, the jolly and genial press agent, is an old-timer in this section and encountered many friends and acquaintances, among them "Uncle Dick Holland" of opera-house fame. He was given the glad hand all over town and left many additional friends in his wake. As long as the Robinsons have "Doc" as their press agent they will keep in "close touch" with all the newspaper people.

Capt. Dave Deaderick, the "adjuster," is another notable who has been with the show off and on for fifteen years. He made himself agreeable to the city officials and looked after the thousand and one little details. He is a specialist in the art of making you feel glad that he came and sorry that he left.

Buried Saturday.

The remains of the late Gano Grissam, of Nashville, were brought here Saturday and interred in Hopewell Cemetery. Mrs. Carpenter, his mother; Mr. Carpenter, Mrs. Bordelon, and other members of the family accompanied the body, which was brought here over the I. C. railroad. The remains were taken from the station to the cemetery, where a brief service was held by Dr. A. P. Lyon, of the Methodist church.

The deceased was the only son of the late M. W. Grissam, at one time proprietor of the Phoenix Hotel, and afterwards a prominent grocer of this city. Young Grissam began writing for the city papers in his early youth and after leaving here went to Nashville, where he married and took a position on one of the dailies of that city, afterwards working in an editorial capacity on Memphis papers. He was in his thirty-first year at the time of his death and leaves a widow with no children. He married Miss Carrie Hite, but no children were born to them.

STOCK BARN BURNED.

Heavy Loss By Fire Falls On G. H. Stowe.

The large stock barn of G. Howard Stowe, at Julien, was burned Saturday evening about 8 o'clock. It caught in some unknown manner in the feed room. The stable and its contents were a total loss amounting to about $2,000. There were 120 barrels of corn, gearing for 18 mules and a large stock of hay in the building. The mules were all rescued, but some of them were scorched. The insurance was $800 on the building.

BABY COVERED WITH SORES

Would Scratch and Tear the Flesh Unless Hands Were Tied—Wasted to a Skeleton—Awful Suffering for Over a Year—Grew Worse Under Doctors—Skin Now Clear.

WOULD HAVE DIED BUT FOR CUTICURA.

"My little son, when about a year and a half old, began to have sores come out on his face. I had a physician treat him, but the sores grew worse. Then they began to come on his arms, then on other parts of his body, and then one came on his chest, worse than the others. Then I called another physician. Still he grew worse. At the end of about a year and a half of suffering he grew so bad I had to tie his hands in cloths at night to keep him from scratching the sores and tearing the flesh.

"He got to be a mere skeleton, and was hardly able to walk. My Aunt advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. So great was her faith in it that she gave me a small piece of Soap to try and a little of the Ointment. I took it home without any fault, but to please her I tried it, and it seemed to dry up the sores a little.

"I sent to the drug store and got a cake of the Soap and a box of the Ointment and followed the directions, and at the end of about two months the sores were all well. He has never had any sores of any kind since.

"He is now strong and healthy, and I can sincerely say that only for your most wonderful remedies my precious child would have died from those terrible sores. I used only one cake of Soap and about three boxes of Ointment. (signed) Mrs. Egbert Sheldon, R. F. D. No. 1, Woodville, Conn., April 22, 1905."

FARMERS, BEWARE.

New Swindle Being Worked in Rural Districts.

An exchange gives the following warning to the farmers against a swindle which is being worked in the rural districts:

A new swindler is abroad in the land. The swindler sells barbed wire fencing stretching machines. He leaves the machine and forty rods of good fencing wire on trial, requiring the farmer to sign for the return of the stretcher. The farmer signs for $3, which, of course, turns up at the bank for $300 instead. He may not turn up in Christian county, but it would be just as well for our farmers to be on the look out for him, just the same.

SIMPLE TESTS FOR CERTAIN FORMS OF FOOD ADULTERATION.

The Housewife May Determine the Purity of Various Articles in Common Use—Carefully Observe Precautions Given.

We all hear a great deal about the poisons with which our daily food is adulterated. Simple methods for the detection of some forms of food adulteration are presented by two government officials belonging to the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture: W. D. Bigelow, chief division of foods; Burton J. Howard, chief microchemical laboratory. Many manufacturers and dealers foods have the ordinary senses so highly developed that by their aid alone they can form an intelligent opinion of the nature of a product, or of the character, and sometimes even of the proportion, of adulterants present. This is especially true of such articles as coffee, wine, salad oils, flavoring extracts, butter and milk. The housewife finds herself constantly submitting her purchases to this test. Her broad experience develops her sense of taste and smell to a high degree, and her discrimination is often sharper and more accurate than she herself realizes. The manufacturer who has developed his natural senses most highly appreciates best the assistance or collaboration of the chemist, who can often come to his relief when his own powers do not form layer and place it in a white saucer, or, better, in a plain glass dish. Set a basin of water—as warm as the hand can bear—on the outside window ledge and place the dish containing the chloroform extract in it, closing the window until the chloroform has completely evaporated. In this manner the operation may be conducted with safety even by one who is not accustomed to handling chloroform. In warm weather the vessel of warm water may, of course, be omitted. Benzoic acid, if present in considerable amount, will now appear in the dish in characteristic flat crystals. On warming the dish the unmistakable irritating odor of benzoic acid may be obtained. This method will detect benzoic acid in tomato catsup or other articles in which it is used in large quantities. It is not sufficiently delicate, however, for the smaller amount used with some articles, such as wine. It is often convenient to extract a larger quantity of the sample and divide the chloroform layer into two portions, testing one for salicylic acid and the other for benzoic acid.

DETECTION OF BORIC ACID AND BORAX.

Boric acid (also called boracic acid) and its compound with sodium (borax) are often used to preserve animal products, such as sausage, butter and sometimes milk. For the detection of boric acid and borax, solids should be macerated with a small amount of water and strained through a white cotton cloth. The liquid obtained by treating solids in this manner is clarified somewhat by thoroughly chilling and filtering through filter paper.

In testing butter place a heaping teaspoonful of the sample in a teacup, add a couple of teaspoonsfuls of hot water, and stand the cup in a vessel containing a little hot water until the butter is thoroughly melted. Mix the contents of the cup well by stirring with a teaspoon and set the cup with the spoon in it in a cold place until the butter is solid. The spoon with the butter (which adheres to it) is now removed from the cup and the turbid liquid remaining strained through a white cotton cloth, or better, through filter paper. The liquid will not all pass through the cloth or filter paper, but a sufficient amount for the test may be secured readily.

In testing milk for boric acid two or three tablespoonsfuls of milk are placed in a bottle with twice that amount of a solution of a teaspoonful of alum in a pint of water, shaken vigorously, and filtered through filter paper. Here again a clear or only slightly turbid liquid passes through the paper.

Salicylic acid is used for preserving fruit products of all kinds, including beverages. It is frequently sold by drug stores as fruit acid. Preserving powders consisting entirely of salicylic acid are often carried from house to house by agents. It may be detected as follows:

Between two and three ounces of the liquid obtained from the fruit products, as described above, are placed in a narrow bottle holding five ounces, about a quarter of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar (or, better, a few drops of sulphuric acid) is added, the mixture shaken for two or three minutes, and filtered into a second small bottle. Three or four tablespoonsfuls of chloroform are added to the clear liquid in the second bottle and the liquids mixed by a somewhat vigorous rotary motion, poured into an ordinary glass tumbler and allowed to stand till the chloroform settles out about a teaspoonful of the liquid obtained by any one of the methods mentioned above is placed in any dish, not metal, and five drops of hydrochloric (muriatic) acid added. A strip of turmeric paper is now dipped into the liquid and then held in a warm place—near a stove or lamp—till dry. If boric acid or borax was present in the sample the turmeric paper becomes bright cherry red when dry. A drop of household ammonia changes the red color to dark green or greenish black. If too much hydrochloric acid is used the turmeric paper may take on a brownish red color even in the absence of boric acid. In this case, however, ammonia changes the color to brown just as it does turmeric paper which has not been dipped into the acid solution.

DETECTION OF FORMALDEHYDE

Formaldehyde is the substance most commonly used for preserving milk and is rarely, if ever, added to any other food. Its use is inexcusable and especially objectionable in milk served to infants and invalids.

To detect formaldehyde in milk three or four tablespoonsfuls of the sample are placed in a teacup with at least an equal amount of strong hydrochloric acid and a piece of ferric alum about as large as a pinhead, the liquids being mixed by a gentle rotary motion. The cup is then placed in a vessel of boiling water, no further heat being applied, and left for five minutes. At the end of this time, if formaldehyde be present, the mixture will be distinctly purplish. If too much heat is applied, a muddy appearance is imparted to the contents of the cup.

CAUTION. Great care must be exercised in working with hydrochloric acid, as it is strongly corrosive. It must not come in contact with the flesh or clothing of the operator nor with any metallic vessels and must be greatly diluted with water before it is poured into the sink.

DETECTION OF BENZOIC ACID

Benzoic acid also is used for preserving fruit products. Extract the sample with chloroform as in the case of salicylic acid; remove the chloro-

The Young Physician.

WHAT HIS EXPERIENCE PROVED.

In the early sixties it was usually the duty of a practicing physician to ride many miles every day on his regular round of visits upon his patients. In those days a young man who had received a splendid medical training in one of the best medical colleges of that day was accustomed to ride to, twenty or thirty miles or more, visit the sick and afflicted. His services were soon phenomenal. Doctors and families called him for consultation to towns at considerable distances by rail. His specialty was the cure of those common and distressing diseases of women. He had early discovered that by combining the extracts of the following medicinal plants, in just the right proportion, without the use of alcohol his "Prescription" almost invariably cured such cases. Later, in order to place this remedy before the public in a shape easily to be procured, he established a laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., where regularly qualified chemists were put in charge of accepting and putting up his "Prescription" and put it in shape for sale to all parts of the world.

This remedy, which he named Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a "woman's medicine" but a tonic and nerveine for women, and a regular physician's prescription, and contains the following ingredients: Lady's Slipper root, Black Cohosh root, Unicorn root, Blue Cohosh root, Golden Seal root, and chemically pure glycerine.

Dr. Pierce does not claim for his "Favorite Prescription" that it is a "cure-all." It is recommended as a most perfect specific for woman's peculiar ailments. So uniform are the results which follow the use of this remarkable remedy, that it can be truly affirmed of "Favorite Prescription" that it always helps and almost always cures. Ninety-eight per cent of the women who give this medicine a fair and faithful trial are cured and remain cured.

It is a powerful invigorating tonic, imparting health and strength in particular to the woman and its actions. The local common health is so intimately related to the general health that when diseases of the delicate womanly organs are cured the whole body gains in health and strength. For weak and sickly women who are "worn-out," "run-down" or debilitated, especially for women who work in store, office or schoolroom, who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will prove a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving power.

THE PROOF.
"I want to tell you of the great improvement in my health since I took your 'Favorite Prescription,'" says Mrs. H. S. Jones, of Forest, N. C. "When I began its use I was a physical wreck and had despaired of ever having good health again. Could not get up in the morning without help. Was suffering from rheumatism, the gout, sciatica, and neuralgia. I had constant pain in the head, and was compelled to give up all sorts of work. I was suffering with almost every pain that a woman is subject to; had inflammation of the ovaries, painful and suppressed periods, and other symptoms of female disease. After taking the lotion of 'Favorite Prescription,' I felt like a new person. Can ride horseback and take all kinds of exercise and not feel tired."

Only one or two of these tiny, sugar-coated pellets will regulate tone up and set in healthy, vigorous action a foul stomach with its attendant sluggish bowels. Little pills, little dose, produce great results. First put up by old Dr. E. V. Pierce, over 40 years ago. Much imitated but never equaled.

Southwest

The Land of BIG CROPS and PROSPERITY.

Are you making as much off your farm as you ought? No doubt you are making all you can. The trouble is the land costs too much. It takes too much money to buy a big farm, and so you are trying to make a living on a small farm, or perhaps you are renting one and paying a good share of what you raise, in rent. Wouldn't it be better to go where the price of good land is so little that you can own a big farm—where every acre of the ground is working for you and all you raise is paying you good profits?

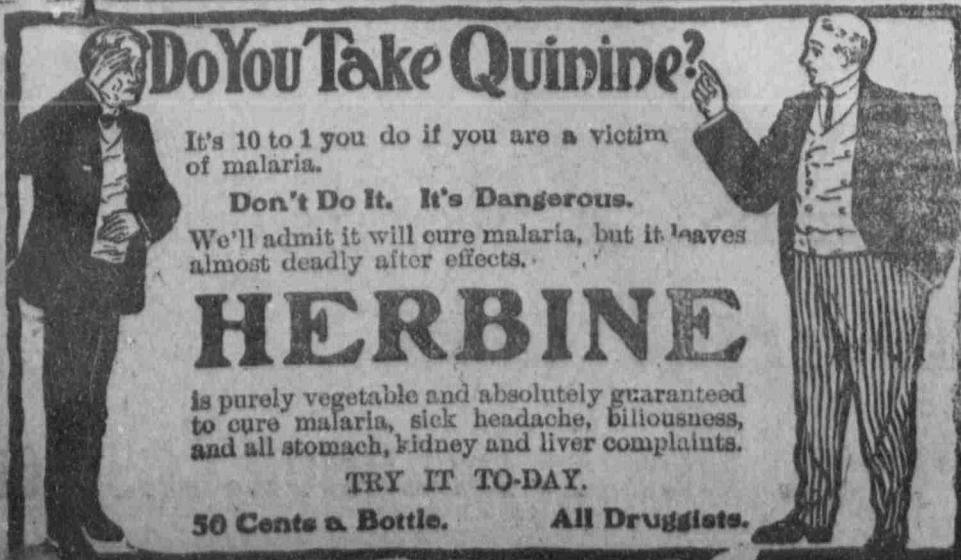

There are thousands of acres of fertile land in the Southwest along the line of the Cotton Belt Route that can be bought for from $3 to $10 an acre. This land is increasing in value each year.

See the Southwest at Small Cost.

A trip to the Southwest would convince you that your best interests lay in settling there. The trip can be made at very little expense. On the first and third Tuesdays of each month you can purchase a round trip ticket to any point in the Southwest or on via the Cotton Belt Route at very low rates. Stopovers can be made for you to examine any locality you are interested in.

Write at once for free copies of books describing this wonderful country and for full information about cost of tickets, etc.

THE DESERTED BABE

STRANGE BUT TRUE INCIDENT THAT HAPPENED IN FRANCE.

Child of Rich Parentage Which Brought a Small Fortune to a Large-Hearted Peasant Woman.

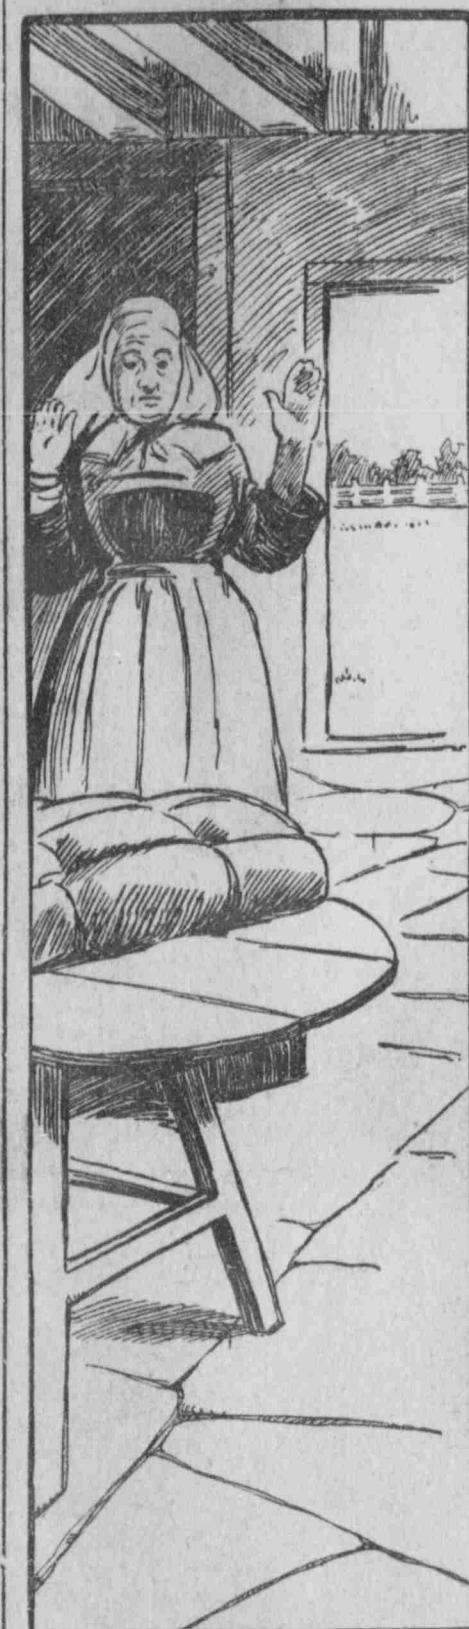

Not many months ago, a handsome motor car entered the little town of Plouneur-Trez. In it was seated a man with a pretty girl at his side, who held in her arms a somewhat bulky parcel.

The car slowed down, and the man cast an anxious glance behind him. The narrow street was deserted. A small house caught his eye, and he drew up.

Springing out he knocked impatiently on the door. Then, receiving no answer, he turned the handle and entered.

Evidently no one was within. Satisfied that this was so, the man returned to the car, and, taking the parcel from the girl, he again hastened to the cottage.

Five minutes later the same car was speeding at 40 miles an hour along the road to Brest.

HER EYES LIGHTED ON THE MYSTERIOUS BUNDLE.

A poorly-clad woman entered the little cottage. As she did so, a strange cry fell on her ears. She glanced around, wondering whence it proceeded.

Then her eyes lighted on the mysterious parcel lying in the middle of the table.

She pulled back the paper covering, then stepped a pace backwards in surprise.

A little baby gazed with eyes wide open from within.

Consternation now filled the poor woman. Whose child was this? Who had so cruelly attempted to burden her with still another mouth? Filled with anger, she summoned her neighbors.

"Someone has left the child here and will call for it again," one suggested.

The thought appealed the Indignant woman, and she laid the child, still in its strange cradle, on the mat before the fire.

The afternoon passed, yet no one had come to claim the baby, who slept in happy unconsciousness of the stir its presence was creating. Towards evening one of the neighbors called to inquire what the woman intended to do with the child.

"Nothing," she replied, and tearfully related her own poverty.

"Then I will take the baby," said the neighbor, as a plaintive wail issued from the paper parcel.

With the baby in her arms, the woman proceeded to her house. Then, a thought coming to her mind, she decided to examine its clothing for any marks that might trace its parentage. One glance at the fine material told her that this was no child of common people. And with indignation at its heartless parents she proceeded with her investigation.

A bundle of folded papers fell into her hand. A letter! perhaps an explanation?

The woman read—what was this? A note for a thousand francs—not one! but—ten—twenty—more still—forty—fifty notes—each one for a thousand francs.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Hopkinsville people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Hopkinsville reader. Surely the expression of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in far-away places. Read the following:

J. B. Cravens, blacksmith, of 320 West 19th street, Hopkinsville, Ky., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills practically gave me a new back. For three or four years kidney trouble had caused me the most constant and severe aches and pains through my back and compelled me to constantly complain in more than one way. When arising in the morning I felt sore and lame and had to make a great effort to dress myself. The trouble grew worse and a weakness of the kidneys set in which caused me a great deal of annoyance. Willing to try almost anything I purchased Doan's Kidney Pills as soon as I saw them advertised locally and got a box at L. A. Johnson & Co.'s drugstore. They brought me a great deal of benefit. My back is well and strong now and the trouble with the kidney secretions is much relieved. I have a great deal of faith in Doan's Kidney Pills."

When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial therefore was a great surprise, instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will accomplish, but prefer to let the users make the statements. What they do claim, is that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail. For sale by L. L.
